FARM TO FARM

(By BYRON DYER, County Agent)

L. M. Ethridge has a carpet grass and lespedeza pasture that gives grazing from early spring until fall.

Good temporary pastures offer cheap feed, according to O. C. Banks, who is grazing 90 cows on 40 acres of millet. Mr. Banks says that the grazing will hold for three months.

A combination of peanuts and peas in the field produces an excellent quality of hay for J. A. Banks. Mr. Banks grazes the field after cutting the hay.

Kermit Clifton says that if packers are having to discard most of the hog livers, he believes he can finish them out and help save that loss. Kermit has a litter growing off for the fall show under a sanitary program.

G. W. Bird evidently keeps his pigs and the feed on the same side of the fence pretty much all the time, judging from the condition they are always in. The indications are he does not permit them to become infested with objectionable parasites.

W. C. Hodges and W. W. Robertson have found a place in the farming program for sheep. Mr. Hodges markets lambs and wool, while Mr. Robertson has found a special market for his wool by having it manufactured into blankets and selling them at a fair price.

P. F. Martin says that one form of insurance on the farm is to paint the house; L. L. Clifton adds that it increases the value of the property besides making it a better place to live. J. O. Allford thinks that the family gets more personal pleasure out of the home by painting the inside of the home first. John H. Brannen has an idea that painting the roofs of the outbuildings helps add to their life.

BROWNSON TO MANAGE BOTTLING COMPANY

Allen Brownson, of North Carolina, arrived Saturday to make his home. He will be manager of the Statesboro Coca Cola Bottling Co. Mrs. Brownson and their two young sons will join him the latter part of the month and they will occupy the E. L. Poinsett home on North College street.

Strengthen During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to carry it through the changes that are taking place. In such cases, Calumil has proved helpful to many women. It is the formation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

ROGERS-LANIER

Of cordial interest to their many friends is the marriage of Miss Sarah Rogers and Paul Lanier, on June 8, in Ridgeland, S. C.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rogers. She was a popular member of the tenth grade of the Brooklet High School.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lanier, her two attendants, and the bride were graduated from this institution in 1935. The young couple will live with the groom's parents at present.

GROOMS—GIGNILIAT

Another marriage of interest in this community is that of Miss Veta Grooms and Robert Gigniliat.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Grooms, of Levelland, and is popular among the young people of her community.

Mr. Gigniliat is well known among the C. C. C. boys of this section.

The marriage took place on June 11 in Savannah at the home of Rev. Lon L. Day, who performed the ceremony. The young couple will live in Savannah.

Lee Smith, age 64, prominent farmer of the Lane's church community near Stillson, died at his home Monday morning after a short illness. He was the son of the late Elder and Mrs. J. L. Smith, of that community. Elder Smith, father of the deceased, was an outstanding Primitive Baptist minister and was for a number of years pastor of Lane's church.

Mr. Smith was the custodian of the keys of that church, where he was a faithful member for a number of years. He attended every funeral as well as every preaching service at the church, and before his death he could name every grave in the large cemetery, the marked and unmarked.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Maggie Lanier Smith, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Raleigh Clark, of Brooklet, and Mrs. Harley Beasley, of Stillson; three sons, Floyd Smith, of Ridgeland, S. C.; George Smith, of Stillson, and Sam Smith, of Savannah; four sisters, Mrs. E. T. Reynolds and Mrs. Gene Knight, of Stillson; Mrs. Jerry Brantley, of Portia, and Mrs. Sebastian Smith, of Melton, Ga.

The funeral services were conducted at Lane's church Tuesday morning by Elder W. H. Crouse, of Statesboro, and Elder J. D. Durden, of Swainsboro.

President's Georgia Crop Looking Good
Warm Springs, Ga., June 15 (GPS).—Crops are looking good on President Roosevelt's 2,250-acre farm at Pine Mountain, near Warm Springs, according to Otis Moore, manager of the farm. Mr. Moore reports that the farm has a fair stand of all grains, the oats and corn looking particularly good. The vineyard also is looking good, Mr. Moore said, and the prospect is that the president will have a fine crop of grapes this year.

An Eastern newspaper says the Republicans ought to begin picking a good slogan for 1938. How about this one: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party?"

The Ladies Aid Society of the Primitive Baptist church met at the church Monday afternoon and made final plans for the coming revival at this church. Elder J. Fred Hartley, of Miami, Fla., will assist the pastor, Elder R. H. Kennedy. The services will begin Monday night, June 21, and continue through the fourth Sunday night.

FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION

"Give us a truck with ample pulling power . . . one that is economical . . . one that will give reliable service over a long period for the least money."

That is the demand of all truck operators, and thousands of Chevrolet users will tell you that the best answer is—Chevrolet trucks!

Chevrolet trucks have the greatest pulling power in their price range . . . because they have a New High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine which wrings the last ounce of power out of every gallon of fuel.

Chevrolet trucks are the most economical for all-round duty . . . because they give maximum gas and oil mileage, and will keep on serving over a long period with minimum care and attention.

And Chevrolet trucks are safer, more modern, more durable . . . because they're the only low-priced trucks with Perfected Hydraulic Brakes, New Steelstream Styling, Pressure Stream Lubrication, and extra-strong Chevrolet construction throughout.

Answering Questions On Social Security

It is the policy of the Bulloch Times to serve its readers at all times. In this issue we are bringing to them the third of a series of three short articles dealing with the old-age benefits provisions of the social security act. We feel that our readers want to know more about this law which affects a large percentage of the workers of this country. The Savannah office of the social security board has agreed to furnish us the material for these articles, and informs us that any questions concerning them will be gladly answered if they are addressed to Social Security Board, American Building, Savannah, Ga.

Social Security Account Numbers In order to protect his claim for benefits every employee in the occupations not excluded by the Social Security act should have a social security account number. This is to make certain that all his wages as reported by his employer are entered on his own account in the record division of the Social Security Board. No other person has the same number as he does and the number is his to be used wherever he works.

The fact that he has a number does not make him liable for the income tax under title VIII. His employer must collect this tax if the work is included under the act, regardless of whether a man has a number, and must match it with same amount. The Bureau of Internal Revenue collects this tax from the employer.

The social security account number should be kept in a safe place. When a person goes to work for a new employer, he should report his number to his employer so that the latter will have it for his records and reports. This is done for the protection of the owner of the number.

If a worker loses his account number, he may secure a duplicate by applying to the Social Security Board. Although a worker is not required to do so, for his own protection it is recommended by the Bureau of Internal Revenue that he keep a record of his employment giving dates of employment, employer, amount received (including board and other payments besides money), and tax payments from him by his employer.

Many employees are using a metal record for keeping an indestructible record of their account numbers. The social security has no objection to the employee's doing this.

The old-age benefits has been set up so that as a matter of right a man or woman reaching the age of sixty-five and having fulfilled the provisions of the act, will have a monthly income for life. As the plan gets well under way, industrious, hard-working people may look forward to in and near Daisy. She was accompanied home by her cousin, Miss Betty Sanders, who will be with her for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dukes and little son, Charles, spent two days the past week in South Carolina at and near Pritchardville, where Mr. Dukes went deep sea fishing.

The protracted meeting at Emitt Grove Baptist church was largely attended by residents of our little hamlet. Rev. Stokes, of Louisville, did the preaching and his discourses were very much enjoyed.

Misses Ila Ruth and Maida Brown are visiting relatives and friends here and in other places in the county before going on to their home in Atlanta. They have been in school in Tallahassee, Fla., for the past term.

Miss Inez Hilton and Mrs. Frank Chamberlain and daughter, Billie Deane, of Saginaw, Mich., are spending several weeks with their cousin, Mrs. Charles Nelson. From here they will go to Atlantic City for the month of July.

Misses Reba Welch and Maree Suffolk, of Chesterfield, Iowa, were weekend guests of Misses Ruth and Rita Livingston. From here they will go to camp in Virginia, where they will join a party of friends for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Avery and two children, Georgia Belle and Julian, spent the week end in Adrian and Athens, Ga. Mr. Avery having gone to be in the graduation exercises at the University of Georgia, where he will get his degree in vocational agriculture.

Little Janice Thornton has arrived from Panama to spend the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Miles. She will be joined in September by her parents and brother, James. Major Thornton expects to be transferred in the fall to a Western post of duty.

The body of W. R. (Heddy) Anderson was brought back from South Carolina, where he died last week and was buried Sunday at Black Creek church. He lived near here all his life until a few years ago, and has a large family connection here as well as his wife, who was Miss Eva Davis before her marriage.

News has reached here of the death of Jerome Davis in a hospital in Biloxi, Miss. He has many relatives here and in other places in the county, as well as his wife, who was Miss Annie Lee DeLoach before her marriage. They lived near here until several years ago, when they moved to Biloxi, La., where they lived at the time of his death. He was buried on Saturday in Louisiana.

Nevils School News

The following poems were written by Ruby Burned, a pupil in the tenth grade of the Nevils High School. The only training in poetry writing she has ever had was given her three years ago when Mrs. G. T. Frazier taught her ninth grade English class. Little encouragement from this one and that one has brought forth the products which follow.

SCHOOL

School is a place where pupils meet to unconcern their old friends and greet To welcome faces that are new, To be to them a friend that's true. It is a place of fun and joy For every girl, for every boy. It is a place to learn how To be a man in the future years. It is there that we are trained To love and respect our family name. We also learn many other things, And one of these is to use our brains In making each and every decision While trying to make an honest living. We are taught to respect our teachers And to treat them like human creatures. Of these things we're taught these are the best, There are many others but never mind the rest.

CAR REGISTRATION HAS REACHED PEAK

(By Georgia News Service)

Marcus McWhorter, motor vehicle commissioner, announced last week that car registrations were at the highest point in the state's history.

Mr. McWhorter said the first five months of the year brought in 413,752 motor registrations, or more than 35,000 above the mark at the corresponding time last year.

The motor commissioner said the five-month tag sale figure was only 12,000 behind the total number sold during all of 1936.

Collections of the bus and truck maintenance tax have sent approximately $300,000 into the state treasury, Mr. McWhorter said.

This amount represented collections from about one-seventh of those liable for the tax, he said. A penalty of 20 per cent of the tax will be imposed June 15th.

Between Us

What popular school teacher received a beautiful bathing suit as a parting gift from an ardent admirer of her? Incidentally the donor is a fisherman's luck, but last week the tables turned and when Sam Franklin and Prince Preston returned they had a different fish tale to tell. After a very successful catch they climbed wearily in the car to head home; to their utter dismay the car refused to budge, so, believe it or not, Prince walked that five miles barefooted. The town will miss some of our young folks who are going to Bluffton on a house party all next week. From the report they brought back last year the house party began a very strong desire to have a house party next year. So Bobby Smith is going to see that they don't take too much advantage of the full moon. By the way, Bluffton is the town that boasted several years ago of not having a telephone or lights. The one that chose that site for a house party certainly knew their "picking." When the National Guards leave on their two weeks' encampment for Charleston and other guests playing were this year most of the wives are there to spend the time over there on the beach. So if you miss seeing Sara Morris, Lavinia Floyd, Lois Cowart, Sara Ellis and about twenty more, you will know why they are off to Bluffton. Heard a funny story about two couples that went to hear Bob Crosby Sunday night. The dance did not begin until midnight. One of the couples, being married, decided to catch a few winks until the dance started. Being so funny, they decided they were somewhere dancing and didn't bother to see about them. When they were ready to return home they went to get in the car and there lay the "sleeping beauties." Much to their surprise, they found the car hatched and from all accounts slept through it all. Anyhow, a Chevrolet sleeps good. Sunday being a day when every body is out, the good things you would like to do for Dad? Often we did Dad about his fiddle to Mother. But when the show comes we never want to make a decision even from a child without him. His plan can't be filled by any other in the world. In closing I want to give you a few sentences by George Matthews. He said, "Give me a father always near, one to rely for me, someone to give me a hand, cold when it is dark, when it's dangerous going. I need him to lighten all my loneliness. May he be able to tell me every thing I do wrong, and then love me for what I am of good and noble desire. I am sure my father would defend me when I am wrong, and down in his heart he feels and knows that he is the greatest Dad in the whole world, and I don't forget to remember him on Sunday and make him know you are proud he is your dad. Will you say so."
